

Android - Setting up Restricted Profiles

Creating a restricted profile

1. Open your tablet's Settings app .
2. Tap Users & accounts > Users.
3. Tap Add user or profile.
4. Tap Restricted profile. The new profile opens with a list.
 - To name the profile, tap New profile. Enter the name and tap OK.
 - To pick which listed apps, features and settings the profile can see and use, tap the On/Off switches and Settings .
5. Tap Back .
6. Tap the new profile.
 - If you're with the new user, that user can set up a Google account and other details.
 - If the new user isn't there, that user can set up the next time that you switch to this profile.

Editing a restricted profile

1. Open your tablet's Settings app .
2. Tap Users & accounts > Users.
3. Tap the restricted profile you want to edit.
4. Next to the profile, tap Settings .
5. To pick which listed apps, features and settings the profile can see and use, turn them on or off.
 - The changes are immediate.
 - If you switch off a listed app, the profile loses all content associated with that app.
 - If you switch a listed app back on after switching it off, the lost app content isn't restored.

Deleting a restricted profile

1. Open your tablet's Settings app .
2. Tap Users & accounts > Users.
3. Tap the restricted profile you want to delete.
4. Next to the profile, tap Delete .